OTTO The Mascot is celebrating his 24th season.
Since purchasing the Spokane Indians in 1986, Bobby Brett has helped the team become one of the most successful Minor League Baseball franchises in the nation. Last season, the team averaged 5,107 fans per game - making Spokane the third-highest attended Short-Season Class A baseball team in the entire country. The 2016 season will mark the 31st anniversary of the Bretts purchasing the team.

Aside from his work with the Indians, Bobby owns and operates the Western Hockey League’s Spokane Chiefs and the Rancho Cucamonga Quakes, an affiliate of the Los Angeles Dodgers. He is also heavily involved in the real estate business, both in Spokane and in Southern California.

In 2014, Brett was re-elected for his second three-year term as a member of Minor League Baseball’s Board of Trustees. The board, which consists of 17 representatives from MiLB, meets at least twice a year to determine policies and enact rules and regulations which shall be necessary and proper for executing objectives of the National Association.
IT’S A PERFECT TEN FOR HULETT AND THE SPOKANE INDIANS

Manager ready for 76 more games

Hulett enters his tenth season in the Texas organization, all as the manager for Spokane. The former major league infielder is the longest tenured manager in the 113-year history of the Indians and owns the club record for most games managed. He has earned the Northwest League Manager of the Year award twice (2008 and 2010), guiding the Indians to a postseason appearance in three different seasons. Spokane won the 2008 NWL Championship under Hulett’s direction.

Hulett also serves as the head coach at Evangel Christian Academy in Shreveport, Louisiana. He has led the Eagles to the 2-A state title in 2006, 2009, 2011, 2013, and 2014. Hulett led the Eagles to a district title and state semifinals appearance in 2015.

Hulett had the unique chance to manage Team Phillipines in the World Baseball Classic qualifier in Sydney, Australia this spring after a former player recommended him for the post.

The Illinois native spent parts of 12 seasons in the major leagues with the Chicago White Sox (1983-87), Baltimore Orioles (1989-94) and St. Louis Cardinals (1995). He was originally drafted by Texas in the 39th round of the 1978 amateur draft, but did not sign. He attended Miami-Dade Community College and the University of South Florida before being drafted by Chicago-AL in the first round (third overall) of the 1980 amateur draft (secondary phase).

Hulett made his major league debut with the White Sox in September of 1983. He finished his career with a .249 average, 48 home runs and 220 RBI over 720 MLB games.

Hulett retired as a member of the Rangers in late 1995 after signing a mid-season contract with the club several months earlier.

He currently resides in Shreveport, Louisiana with his wife, Linda, and his three sons, Tim Jr. (Tug), Joe, and Jeff, who are all involved in either professional or amateur baseball.

The veteran skipper will be looking for his 350th career victory as manager of the Indians this year, coming into the season with a lifetime record of 339-344 in his record 683 games at the helm. His seventh victory of the year will also be the Indians 500th since becoming a Rangers affiliate in 2003.
KENNY HOOK, HITTING COACH

Hook enters his first season with the Spokane Indians, and third overall with the Texas organization. He joined the organization in January 2014 and spent the last two seasons as a hitting coach with the AZL Rangers. The Texas native spent three seasons with the Kansas City T-Bones of the independent American Association, including two years as manager from 2012-13. While with the T-Bones, Hook was also an assistant head coach and sports training center coordinator at Maple Woods Community College. He played collegiately for Crowder College in Neosho, MO and Benedictine College in Atchinson, KS. Hook played professionally for the Amarillo Dillas from 1997-2000 and was a part of their 1999 Texas-Louisiana championship club. He and his wife, Heather, have a son, Maximus.

JOEY SEAVER, PITCHING COACH

Seaver enters his first season with the Spokane Indians, and third overall with the Texas organization. He joined the Rangers following a successful run as a pitching coach at the junior college level. Seaver has spent the majority of his career at the college level, including 14 seasons as a pitching coach at his alma mater, Walters State Community College in Morristown, TN. He was part of six Walters State baseball teams that advanced to the JUCO World Series, including as a pitching coach for the 2006 national champs. Seaver, who pitched at the University of Tennessee, was drafted four times as an amateur and pitched professionally in the Milwaukee Brewers farm system.

JARED GOEDERT, ASSISTANT COACH

Goedert will make his professional coaching debut with Spokane in 2016. He joins the coaching ranks following a playing career that spanned nine seasons in the Cleveland (2006-12), Pittsburgh (2013), and Toronto (2014) organizations. The Kansas native was selected by Cleveland in the ninth round of the 2006 June Draft out of Kansas State and was named a South Atlantic League All-Star in 2007 when he led all Cleveland farmhands with 27 home runs. Goedert saw action at the Triple-A level in every season from 2010-14. Goedert also starred in football during high school, leading the state of Kansas in passing yards as a junior at Concordia High School.
The 2016 MLB Player Draft will be held from June 9 through June 11, and conducted from MLB Network’s Studio 42 in Secaucus, NJ.

The MLB Network will broadcast the first round of the draft starting at 4:00 PM, as well as live on MLB.com’s live stream. Once the first round is completed, the remaining will be completed by conference call the final two days.

The Spokane Indians receive part of their roster from the MLB Draft each year. Once the draft is completed, the Texas Rangers will assign players to Spokane. These players will come from Extended Spring training in Arizona, as well as the recently drafted high school and college players and international and free-agent signings.

The Texas Rangers first pick this season, 29th overall, has been given to the Washington Nationals. The Rangers forfeited the pick after they signed Nationals outfielder Ian Desmond in the offseason.

The Rangers will still receive a first-round pick, the 30th overall selection. The Rangers received the pick after the Baltimore Orioles signed former pitcher Yovani Gallardo in the offseason.

The Rangers will then pick at the 63rd (second round) and 99th (third round) spots in the MLB Draft. Texas will then hold the 23rd pick in Rounds 4 through 40 for the remainder of the draft (129th, 159th, etc.)

FUN FACT

Texas picked 4th overall last year and chose righthander Dillon Tate out of the University of California, Santa Barbara. The talented hurler was assigned to Spokane to start the season and became the highest drafted player to don a Indians uniform since Spokane became a Rangers affiliate in 2003, surpassing 2003’s 9th overall pick, John Danks.

Dick Schofield, who was drafted 3rd overall in 1981 by the Angels, is the highest drafted player to play for the Indians since the first amateur draft was held in 1965.

The revamped 4th of July Family Fun Run presented by Perkins Restaurant & Bakery takes place at Avista Stadium on Monday, July 4 at 9 AM and features a new low cost of just $15 for every participant who registers before June 17. The race will continue to finish on home plate at Avista Stadium after winding through the Spokane County Fair and Expo Center.

The Wounded Warrior Project, which provides assistance to severely injured service members during their time between active duty and a civilian lifestyle, will continue to be the event’s primary beneficiary.

Saturday, July 16 at Avista Stadium, will mark the 11th year that the Indians and the Susan G. Komen Foundation have collaborated on the event, with proceeds benefiting the Eastern Washington Chapter of the Komen Foundation.

The short one-mile flat walk begins at 6:00 PM and circles around Avista Stadium before finishing on the field where the participants will be recognized in a pre-game ceremony. The game against Salem-Keizer begins at 6:30 PM as Spokane players will wear pink jerseys that will be auctioned off to support the cause.

The Wounded Warrior Project, which provides assistance to severely injured service members during their time between active duty and a civilian lifestyle, will continue to be the event’s primary beneficiary.

The Spokane Indians hosted the 2015 All-Star Game at Avista Stadium on Tuesday, August 4, 2015 in front of a sellout crowd of 7,083 fans. The game marked the fourth time the NWL held the midsummer classic, and the second time Spokane played host. But in 2015, a historic new twist was added to the mix.

The All-Star Game pitted the top talent from the eight-team Northwest League against the best players from the eight-team Pioneer Baseball League. In all, 14 Major League Baseball franchises were represented in the first-ever meeting between the two leagues.

The Northwest League All-Stars featured players from Spokane, Everett, Tri-City, Vancouver, Boise, Eugene, Hillsboro, and Salem-Keizer. The Pioneer Baseball League All-Stars was comprised of players from Billings, Missoula, Great Falls, Helena, Grand Junction, Ogden, Idaho Falls, and Orem.

Representing the American League prospects were the Texas Rangers, Seattle Mariners, Toronto Blue Jays, Chicago White Sox, Kansas City Royals, and the Los Angeles Angels. The National League featured the Colorado Rockies, Chicago Cubs, San Diego Padres, Arizona Diamondbacks, San Francisco Giants, Cincinnati Reds, Milwaukee Brewers, and Los Angeles Dodgers.

The game itself lived up to the hype, with Tri-City Dust Devil Peter Van Gansen hitting a walk-off single to give the Northwest League a 6-5 victory over the Pioneer Baseball League.

Van Gansen was named the NWL MiLB.com Top Star, and the Helena Brewer’s David Denson was the PBL MiLB.com Top Star. Van Gansen was 1-for-2 with two walks, and Denson finished 2-for-3 with two RBI and a home run to right field as a pinch-hitter.

Spokane’s LeDarius Clark finished 2-for-5 with two runs scored, a double and two stolen bases. Yeyson Yrizarri scored the winning run after drawing a walk in the ninth. Dylan Moore, the Indians third All-Star selection, went 0-for-2 in the exhibition contest.

The Everett AquaSox’s Luiz Gohara, the Seattle Mariners’ No. 3 overall prospect, earned the win tossing the final 2.1 innings. NWL starter Jared Miller of the Hillsboro Hops allowed one solo home run in two innings.

Spokane hosted the All-Star Game in 2004 and it wasn’t until 2013 the annual game returned to the league.

The 2016 All-Star Game will be held in Ogden, UT, and hosted by the Ogden Raptors of the Pioneer Baseball League on August 2.
Team just missed first half division title

The Spokane Indians kicked off the 2015 season with a bang, defeating the Hillsboro Hops 6-5 on a Dylan Moore walk-off single in front of a sellout crowd. The Indians would continue to play well throughout the first half, finishing with a 19-19 record that left them just three games short of the division title.

The second half proved more challenging for the young squad as they finished 15-23 for an overall record of 34-42. The team was snakebit by troubles on the road, where a 15-23 record away from the friendly confines of Avista Stadium proved too much to overcome.

Spokane was led offensively by LeDarious Clark, a 12th round pick from the University of West Florida. The speedy centerfielder swiped 29 bags while also contributing 12 doubles, seven triples, and eight home runs - including a two homer game on July 23. Clark compiled an 18-game hitting streak from June 19 to July 8 and finished among the league leaders in runs (46 - 3rd) and home runs (8 - 5th).

The Indians also received strong contributions from 2B Dylan Moore (7 HR, 19 2B, 35 RBI, 13 SB), Sherman Lacrus (18 2B, 22 R, 23 RBI), and Yeyson Yrizarrri (10 2B, 2 HR, 29 RBI, 8 SB). Spokane finished with a team average of .239 which ranked 7th in the league.

Moore (7 HR, 19 2B, 35 RBI, 13 SB), Sherman Lacrus (18 2B, 22 R, 23 RBI), and Yeyson Yrizarrri (10 2B, 2 HR, 29 RBI, 8 SB). Spokane finished with a team average of .239 which ranked 7th in the league.

On the mound, the Indians leaned heavily on starting pitchers Peter Fairbanks (3.14 ERA in 11 starts), Joe Palumbo (2.82 ERA in 9 starts) and Luke Lanphere (3.18 ERA in 10 starts). The relief corps were helmed by Adam Choplick (4-0, 2.18 ERA, 3 saves), Luis Parra (2.38 ERA, 21 strikeouts in 22 innings), and Jeffery Springs (2.93 ERA, 33 strikeouts in 27 innings). The team ended the year with an overall 4.24 ERA which was 7th in the league.

One of the highlights of the season was the arrival of Dillon Tate, the 4th overall pick in the 2015 MLB Draft. Tate made a pair of appearances for the Indians, striking out three in two innings without allowing a run. Tate was the highest draft pick to play for the Indians since the team became a Texas Rangers affiliate in 2003, eclipsing former 9th overall pick John Danks (2003). The talented right-hander is currently ranked as the 4th best prospect in the Rangers system.
INDIANS USE SALISH JERSEYS FOR ALL 2015 HOME GAMES

The Spokane Indians baseball team and Spokane Tribe of Indians are a unique partnership in the world of professional sports. In 2006, the two made history by collaborating on a rebranding of the baseball team’s logo, becoming the first pairing of a team and tribe to respectfully agree on the use of local native imagery. During the rebranding, a Salish version of the logo was created. This logo has been stitched on the team’s sleeves since its inception and is still in use today. Brandiose, a nationally respected branding company that specializes in minor and major league sports teams, took lead on the design.

“We welcomed the opportunity to collaborate with our namesake professional baseball team on this project,” said Rudy Peone, Chairman of the Spokane Tribe. “We view this collaboration as a significant opportunity to educate thousands of baseball fans about the language and culture of the Spokane Tribe of Indians – this City’s first inhabitants.”

In 2014, the team announced a new home alternate uniform that would be worn on the majority of Friday and Saturday night games - a uniform that used the Salish logo as well as the name Spokane in the native language, with “Spoaqin” featured in lettering across the front chest. Beginning in 2015, the team wore the Salish jerseys at all 38 home games, and they will continue to do so in 2016 and beyond.

“I believe we’re the only professional baseball team in the country that has home jerseys in a language other than English,” said Spokane Indians Senior Adviser, Andy Billig. “The partnership with the Spokane Tribe is about honoring the history and culture of not only the Spokane Tribe, but the entire region.”

All 76 Spokane Indians home and away games can be heard live on 1510 KGA NW Sports Talk, and are also available to stream online and through the TuneIn smartphone application. Veteran broadcaster Mike Boyle will return for his sixth season as “The Voice of the Indians” this season. Boyle is well-known throughout the region for his work with the Spokane Chiefs Hockey Team, as well as his time with the Tri-City Dust Devils of the Northwest League. Boyle also assists with KREM-2 TV in Spokane.

The Spokane Indians and SWX will broadcast six games in the 2016 season. Sam Adams, SWX Director of Sports, will return to the broadcast booth as the Indians play-by-play announcer, with color commentary to be provided by Mike Boyle, Bob Castle, and others. Adams is a graduate of the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism at Arizona State University, and has been with SWX since joining KHQ in 2009. Televised games will be Friday, June 17; Friday, July 8; Friday, July 15; Friday, July 29; Friday, August 12; and Saturday, August 27.

One of the most revered and recognizable voices in the Northwest will return to the press box for another year, as Hall-of-Fame broadcaster Bob Robertson will serve as a guest announcer for select games throughout the 2016 season. Robertson, who started his broadcasting career in 1949, was the lead broadcaster for Washington State Cougar football for 520 games over 46 years when he handed over the play-calling duties in 2013. He has been named the state of Washington’s Broadcaster of the Year 15 times and was inducted into the Inland Empire Sports HOF in 2001.
