

AT HOME WITH THE HOT RODS

Volume 1, Issue 7, February 27, 2009

Just 49 days until the Hot Rods begin play at Bowling Green Ballpark. This week, we 'bring down the house.'

These four photos show the work done this week next to the ballpark between 7th Ave. and 8th Ave.

This area will eventually become home to the Hot Rods' offices as well as a new downtown parking garage. Notice the picture on the top right, you can see the new Chamber of Commerce building in the background. That view was not possible a week ago.

Doors and Windows Installed
In this photo, taken from the roof of the ballpark, you can see the front of the Upper Level Suites. Notice that the doors and windows are installed all around the suite level. Alliance Corp. also began painting the interior of the press box and video production room. And those white tarps on the field, those will be coming off soon, now that the weather is a bit warmer.
