Pitch Repertoire: Fastball, Curveball, Changeup

THE BOOK ON GERSON GARABITO: Gerson Garabito was signed as an international free agent on September 17, 2012 by Kansas City. He enters this season ranked as a top-30 prospect in the system according to both Baseball America (#16) and MLB.com (#30). The last two seasons for the 22-year-old had to overcome different types of adversity. In 2016, he spent his first year in full-season baseball with Low-A Lexington and struggled. He went 2-11 with a 4.8 ERA in 18 starts. In 80.2 innings he allowed 78 hits, 43 earned runs, struck out 61 batters and walked 35. However, the Royals believed he showed more promise than the numbers indicated. Last season, he repeated in Lexington and put together a nice bounce back season. He was pitching better and had a 24.2-inning streak in which he did not allow an earned run with the Legends from May 4 to Aug. 15. The streak was interrupted by a seven-week stint on the disabled list due to shoulder tendonitis in his right shoulder. Ultimately he would miss almost two months of the season. He made two rehab starts in Surprise, Arizona before rejoining the Legends to finish the season. Overall with Lexington, he went 4-5 with a 2.811 ERA in 15 starts. He tossed 77 innings and allowed 52 hits, 24 earned runs, 19 walks and 72 strikeouts. He also held South Atlantic League hitters to a .190 batting average. From 2013-2015, the right-handed hurler spent his first three seasons in the organization at the Rookie-level. He was with the Surprise Royals in 2015 in the Arizona League for his stateside debut before spending his first two years as a pro in the Dominican Summer League. Scouts have raved about Garabito's ability to command all three off his pitches. His fastball ranges from 89-94 m.p.h. and has a lot of movement to go along with a curveball that he can locate well and a changeup he used more last season. Scouts believe he has the repertoire to remain in the rotation and slot in as a No.4 or No.5 starter, but can also see his stuff play as a reliever.

LAST TIME OUT: Garabito's last start was on May 19 at Salem where he suffered his third loss of the season. He tossed six innings, allowed five runs (four earned), five hits, matched a season-high with five walks and struck out a batter.

GARABITO PUTTING UP SOLID NUMBERS: Pitching in the Carolina League for the first time in his career, Garabito has had success with Wilmington this season. He enters tonight's start in the top-ten in ERA (2.88, 9th) in the Carolina League. He also is ranked second in the circuit with a .197 batting average against, but is tied for second in the CL with 27 walks on the season (tied with teammate Ofreidy Gomez)

ON OVERCOMING HIS INJURY LAST YEAR: Garabito showed a sense of mental toughness after not only bouncing back from a poor 2016 season statistically, but also an injury that could've derailed his season last year. "It was a good year, but it was a little hard for me. I was hurt for about a two-and-a-half months of the season. It was shoulder tendonitis. The rehab process was long and tough. One day, it would feel a lot better and I would go out and throw. I could only go for one inning and I couldn't throw anymore. So I had to rest for another month and then started back up playing catch." A team player, Garabito was unhappy he was unable to perform on the diamond. "It was so hard for me because I try to do my best. That was the frustrating part for me is because I couldn't help my teammates and that did not make me happy. Once I was able to pitch again with no pain, I was so happy."

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE OFFSEASON: Scouts are impressed with Garabito's ability to deliver his pitches with a smooth delivery and his command on his pitches. Garabito focused on the latter this past winter. "I worked on all of my pitches this offseason, but my changeup specifically and my control with it. I used it more last season than I did before. My best pitch is my fastball because of my control of it and velocity."

ANOTHER PEDRO FAN: There have been a handful of players from the Dominican Republic to make it to the MLB and have great success. Two pitchers that represent the Dominican Republic in the Baseball Hall of Fame are Juan Marichal and Pedro Martinez. Garabito grew up idolizing the 2015 inductee Martinez. "I loved Pedro. When I watched him pitch, especially against the New York Yankees it was so fun to see. He would throw his fastball and then come back with his breaking ball. It was so good to watch and he had a lot of great pitches. Growing up in the Dominican Republic it was easy to route for him."

THOUGHTS ON BEING A RANKED PROSPECT: The righty recognizes that it's an honor to be rated as a top-30 prospect, but he realizes he can't let it be a distraction. "It does make you feel a little important, but I still need to work hard this year because it doesn't matter what I'm ranked. You can be on the top one year and a couple years later you can be down on the bottom. You need to continue to work hard because you never know what can happen in the future."

They said it: (On his style of play)...That's my game, speed and getting on and creating havoc on the bases. I told myself I had two pitches and then I'm out...It took its own form (on 62-game on-base streak). I pretty much just rolled with it. I ended the season in Idaho and pretty much knew about my streak but when I started in Lexington in 2016. They said it: (On playing in most games in career last year)..."It's hard to do it that for the first time. I had to make a lot of adjustments and work every day. It's 140 games which is a lot more than where I was two years ago where I just played in 60 games. It was more of a mental adjustment for me. It's a lot of playing and a lot of games. If you didn't do good one week, you have to keep working. I dealt with my struggles by staying positive, trust in the process and come to work every day...(On who helped him get through the season) My hitting coach last year in Lexington really helped me a lot and talked to me a lot. My teammates as well, including (Meibrys) Vilorio also helped me a lot...(On Winning Carlos Fortuna Award) That means a lot to me. I knew Carlos Fortuna and he was a great person. The organization recognized me and how I am like him in some ways and that means a lot to me...(On learning how to speak English) It's been hard. I didn't know too much when I came to the United States. I try to keep close to the American teammates and talk to them. I don't try to use a lot of translation because the more I talk to people without help, the more I can learn...(Coming to the United States) I first came in 2008 with my family and went to Orlando for a week on vacation. We went to Disney World and it was a lot of fun. I came later in 2013 and went to Kansas City because I won the Player of the Year in the Dominican Summer League...(Culture shock moving to U.S.) In the Dominican Leagues you are just in the complexes that they have 24/7. Here in the United States, we go to hotels, we can walk to different places, go to dinner and it is a bit of a shock...(Goals this season) I just want to keep going and have better numbers and stay healthy. It's a long season and I want to do what I can to help the team win."

They said it: (On what led to great success in Lexington to start the 2017 season)"Honestly, my teammates. My first couple of games weren't very good and my teammates knew I could do it, they had my back and I couldn't have done it without my teammates and the great coaching staff we have down there...(On attending the University of New Mexico) I loved that school. Great school, great place to hit. Coach (Ray) Birmingham is a great head coach and knows what he is talking about with hitting. His support staff as well with Buddy Goldsmith, Ken (Jacome), the pitching coach, and Tony Cappuccilli were all great coaches and had great team environment there...(on moving from California to New Mexico) It is definitely different. It was the best place for me to go play baseball. My best friend from high school, Jared Holly, went to New Mexico first. He was a sophomore there my freshman year and he helped me in a lot of ways to make the transition easier...(On transition from catcher to first base)...I absolutely love it. Catching is rough, I respect those guys for being back there. Those guys grind and put their bodies on the line. Being at first is definitely a lot easier on the body...(On hitting for the cycle) Absolutely not, I've never done that before I was just super happy to get the win and happy to contribute. (If cycle was in his mind after the triple) A little bit, but not much. I know (triples) are incredibly hard to get and I'm not a big triples guy. I was just happy to get it done early and didn't have to worry about it."

They said it: (On injury earlier last season) I got hurt in (Low-A) Lexington, pulled my hamstring. I went down to Arizona (Rookie League) for a while, rehabbed it, I took that rehab processes really seriously so I could get back on the field. I thought I would end up going back to Lexington to keep on playing, but they ended up asking me to come up to Wilmington and hop in the lineup. Like I said, I took that rehab process pretty seriously. I guess leg injuries aren't too much to mess around with and I want to be able to stay on the field and try to contribute to the team...(On having any other major injuries during career) I had Tommy John surgery, but that was back in college. In my professional career, the (hamstring injury) was the first injury I've had. My first leg injury as well, so it was kind of new to me; the steps, the process to get through it. A little bit of prayer and a little bit of work with our trainers, I'm able to get back on the field. (On seeing familiar faces with the Rocks) I think it makes that transition to a different level of ball easier. You are not so in awe of everything that is going on. You are realizing you are really cool with the guys that are around you and you fit in with them so it makes that transition easier, a lot more fun and less hectic...I think what led to the success (with Idaho Falls) was me buying into the process that these guys told me to buy into when they first drafted me. It was kind of new to me how they did everything around here. The offseason and prepping myself before games, staying up the middle and being able to go the other way, not necessarily pull the ball so much, just try to get myself on base, let my legs work and do what it can for the team. I think that helped me out a lot. It took a lot of stress and pressure off of me at the plate...(If base stealing is majority of his game) I wouldn't say (stealing) is the name of my game. I definitely want to get on and be able to score runs, put myself into a position where guys get pitches that they can drive and make the pitcher have to work when I'm on base. Stealing bases helps me out, helps the team out and I just want to do whatever I can to help the team win."

One of my goals is to be a Carolina League All-Star So I want to do that and hopefully move up to the next level...(Something people might not know about him) I like to dance a lot. They said it: (On his season-ending injury in 2017) "It came at a bad time because I was starting to get a little hot. When it happened, I definitely knew something was wrong. I wasn't sure if it was season-ending or not, unfortunately it turned out to be that way. After that, I was hoping to be back soon. A month passed, I went to Arizona and did a lot of stimulation work to try and get my deltoid fired up and get it working again. Throughout the whole offseason I did that. I've been strengthening the muscles around it in case it doesn't come back. Unfortunately, nothing much has changed too much, but all the muscles around it have gotten a lot stronger. It's been a crazy process and hopefully my deltoid will come back. I played great in Spring Training without it so we'll see what happens... (How it has changed his game) It's definitely been a struggle with fatigue. It gets tired more quickly, especially throwing and hitting. I've made some adjustments so it doesn't fatigue as fast. I moved my elbow a little lower in my stance and my trap has compensated a lot for the loss for throwing. I was struggling with that in the offseason in terms of the strength, but it's getting better and things are looking up... (Playing in cold weather coming back from injury) I actually do like playing in cold weather. I come from a foggy beach town, so I'm used to the cold weather and overcast skies. It doesn't bother me. Obviously, if you still get jammed, it's going to hurt your hands pretty bad. In regards to my injury, I can't feel my shoulder. So it doesn't bother me either in hot or cold weather... (Having some experience in Wilmington) I'm very happy that I played a little bit here last year. I know what I'm getting myself into regarding what the area is like, what the ballparks are like and what some of the other teams are like. Especially to know how Frawley Stadium plays because the air is a little thick and you aren't

They said it: (On success in Lexington last season) Just going to the cages every day with my hitting coach in Lexington really helped me. We did a bunch of different drills hitting of the tee and front toss. I continued to work hard every day and it was a good year... (On bouncing back after tough first two seasons in system)... The first two seasons in the organization was very hard for me. I never saw pitchers throw 90-94 m.p.h. It took me about a season to get adjusted to that kind of pitching. Last year, I was able to see the pitches better and it was great. It's important to make adjustments and I was late at the plate when I first started and worked on my timing and now I feel comfortable... (On going through a transition on defense)... Before I was signed, I played shortstop. After my first practice, the coaches moved me to third base. I played shortstop for five years before joining the Royals. I miss it sometimes. I played it since I was five years old. At third base, the reaction time is the biggest difference from the two positions. It takes a lot of practice to get better with my reaction... (On coming to the U.S)... I came to the U.S. four years ago and the biggest difference was the language. I try to speak English the best I can. My family and friends are still in Puerto Rico and were effected by Hurricane Irma. They had no lights, no gas, no power for months. It was bad. I've talked to my friends and family and they were telling me how bad it was. It's getting better now, but where I grew up, it was hit by the storm. My family still lives in the house I grew up and it was damaged."

I started out struggling, but I worked with my hitting coach and it helped me a lot. I watched a lot of video on my swing to watch my mechanics. I hit with a leg kick which is more difficult. If you don't have your timing down with a leg kick, you don't have a chance. I had to make adjustments mentally during the first month of the season. If you aren't strong mentally, you can't play this game... (On feeling pressure as one of the youngest player in the SAL) I felt pressure being in A-ball for the first time in my career. I just wanted to go out and just play. I wanted to just play my game and put the ball in play... (Lifestyle in Columbia) It's too hot. Where I'm from in Cartagena it is really hot.
