The Streak Marches On The Dragons consecutive game sell-out streak continued through the 2017 season. After the final regular season home game on September 1, the streak stands at 1,247 consecutive sold-out games, an all-time record for sports in North America (see more on the sell-out streak below).
The Reds Futures Game at Fifth Third Field
The baseball season at Fifth Third Field officially opened on April 1st when the Cincinnati Reds played a collection of their best minor league prospects from the Triple-A, Double-A, and Single-A levels before a huge crowd of 8,837. The Reds defeated the Futures Team 5-1 as Scott Schebler, Stuart Turner, and Patrick Kivlehan all hit home runs for Cincinnati. Former Dragon Amir Garrett started the game for the Reds and tossed three scoreless innings. Luis Castillo, who would emerge later in 2017 as the Reds best starting pitcher, was on the mound for the Futures Team and allowed only one run over five and two-thirds innings. The "Futures Game" was the second of its kind at Fifth Third Field (the first took place in 2009).

The First Nine-Inning No-Hitter in Dragons History
On May 20th at Fifth Third Field, three Dragons pitchers combined for the first nine-inning no-hitter in Dragons history. Starting pitcher Scott Moss worked six innings, following by Carlos Machorro in his first game with the team. Machorro went two perfect innings, and Brian Hunter tossed a 1-2-3 ninth inning to complete the no-hitter against Bowling Green.

Dayton's Jose Siri Breaks a 40-Year Old Midwest League Record
Jose Siri produced a Midwest League record 39-game hitting streak that began with the first game of the second half on June 22 and ended on August 4. On July 31, Siri broke the 40-year-old Midwest League of 35 straight games set by Waterloo’s Tony Toups in 1977. He broke the streak on an 0-2 pitch in his final at-bat of the game at Fort Wayne. After going 14 straight games with a hit within the first five innings from July 15-July 30, he went down to his final at-bat three times in the final four games of the streak.

Siri batted .341 with 13 home runs and 32 RBI, 12 doubles, 3 triples, 8 stolen bases, and a .671 slugging percentage during the streak. Siri hit .461 on balls in play during the streak.
On July 14, he broke the team record of 20 set by Carlos Mendez in 2009. Siri also had a 50-game on-base streak from June 15-August 12 that was the longest in Minor League Baseball this season.

Siri’s hitting streak received tremendous media attention throughout the region and over all of Minor League Baseball, including video highlights on Reds television broadcasts and radio replays on the Reds Radio Network.

Siri’s Big Season

Jose Siri was selected as the Cincinnati Reds Minor League Hitter of the Year as he turned in the best statistical season for a Dragons player since Austin Kearns in the team’s inaugural year of 2000. He was also chosen as one of three outfielders on the full-season Midwest League All-Star Team, finishing the year as the league leader in six major categories. Siri led the league in hits, runs, total bases, extra base hits, slugging percentage, and stolen bases while tying for the league lead in triples. He finished second in the league in home runs and fourth in runs batted in. His final slugging percentage of .530 was the second best in team history, trailing only Kearns from 2000. Siri was also selected by Baseball America as the league’s “Best Defensive Outfielder” and “Fastest Base Runner.”

The Dragons in the Midwest League Playoffs

The Dragons qualified for the Midwest League playoffs for the first time since 2011 and then set a club record for most post-season victories. By posting a first-half record of 41-29, the Dragons qualified for the playoffs as the East Division First Half Wildcard winner. The Dragons knocked off heavily-favored West Michigan in the first round of the playoffs, two-games-to-one, taking the decisive third game in an epic 11-inning battle that lasted nearly four hours. The Dragons won the first game of their second round (semi-final) series with Fort Wayne before dropping games two and three to end their post-season run.

Expanded Netting Announcement

With fan experience and safety in mind, the Dayton Dragons expanded netting in the seating area for the 2017 season. The new, expanded netting protects the seating areas of section 104 through section 116. Additionally, all existing netting was raised approximately eight feet in order to better shield fans seated in the club level and luxury suites.
Reconstruction of the AZEK Dragons Lair
The new AZEK Dragons Lair was constructed for the 2017 season. The new area allows groups to view the game from above the left field wall, featuring premium decking manufactured locally by AZEK Building Products. The all-inclusive package came with game tickets and a food spread featuring grilled hamburgers, all beef hot dogs, smoked pulled chicken, smoked pulled pork, mac and cheese, southern-style baked beans, watermelon, fresh-baked cookies, and unlimited non-alcoholic drinks. Everyone in the group also received a Dragons hat and Dragons t-shirt. The section was sold out for the year by June.

LCD Monitors in the Concourse
Fans noticed an upgrade to the video network located at Fifth Third Field in 2017. The Dragons partnered with Dayton-based Stratacache, a global video solutions provider, to create a new in-house video network consisting of 27 monitors spread throughout the stadium concourse. Above each concession stand, fans are able to see live game action on 75” high definition monitors. Flanking each of the 75” monitors are two additional monitors sharing sponsor and other Dragons event information.

Dragons 5050 Raffle to Benefit the Dayton Dragons Foundation and the American Cancer Society

The Dragons 5050 Raffle saw the Dayton Dragons Foundation team up with the American Cancer Society to raise a lot of money for the two charities. This season, the 5050 Raffle raised more than $100,000 for charity, which also means that lucky Dragons fans walked home with more than $100,000 in prize winnings as well from the raffle. The season was highlighted by a one game raffle pot of nearly $8,000 at the Reds Futures Game in April, as well as a 4-day Rolling Raffle Pot of nearly $20,000 in August.

Full-Season Attendance

For the 12th consecutive year, the Dragons led all Minor League Baseball teams below the Triple-A level in attendance (130 teams). And for the 18th time in the Dragons 18 years of operation, they finished in the top 10 among all Minor League teams and first among all Single-A teams. In 2017, the Dragons attracted 554,638 in total attendance (8,038 per game over 69 home dates) to finish eighth in all of Minor League Baseball (160 teams). The other nine teams in the top 10 were all Triple-A clubs. The Dragons 18-year attendance total top the 10 million mark in 2017, rising to 10,547,907.

Dragons Earn Midwest League Award for Support of Military, Veterans

For the second year, the Dragons were selected as the Midwest League winner of the Charles K. Murphy Patriot Award for outstanding support of and engagement with the United States Armed Forces and veterans, both at the ballpark and in the community. The Dragons have been the league winner of this award in both years of its existence. The Dragons, in partnership with the Dayton Development Coalition, have a long tradition of prominently including local military programs into their season-long schedule of events and promotions.

Dragons Aaron Fossas wins Reds Community Service Award

On the same night that the Reds named Dayton’s Jose Siri as their Minor League Hitter of the Year, they presented 2017 Dragons pitcher Aaron Fossas with their Community Service Award, an honor given annually to one player in the entire Reds farm system. Fossas earned the award for his efforts this season as a volunteer as part of various Dragons community service endeavors. Fossas became the sixth Dragons player to win the Reds Minor League Community Service Award since 2011.

Dragons Turf Manager Britt Barry, Dragons Grounds Crew Win League Award

Dragons Sports Turf Manager Britt Barry and his assistant Brandon Moravec were selected as the recipient of the 2017 Midwest League Sports Turf Manager/Grounds Crew of the Year Award. The Midwest League Field Managers selected the award winner based on quality of playing surface, infield/outfield turf, and preparation of field, quality of pitching mounds, home plate, bullpens, warning track and crew professionalism.

The Dragons season began on April 6. The regular season concluded on September 4 and the playoffs extended through September 11. Here are some of the facts and statistics:

The Dragons completed the 2017 regular season with an attendance total for the year of 554,638. Dayton averaged 8,038 per date over 69 home openings in 2017. The Dragons have led all of Single-A baseball in attendance in each of their 18 seasons.
